Kernels' Del Rosario pops up best start

MiLB.com – Kelsie Heneghan – 7/30/16

As if he was wearing Michael Jordan's favorite undershirt, Eduardo Del Rosario was able to stay cool under pressure.

The Twins prospect turned in the best start of his career on Friday, striking out a personal-best 11 while allowing two hits and four walks over six innings as Class A Cedar Rapids blanked Kane County, 4-0, at Fifth Third Bank Ballpark.

"He was a little bit cooler [on Friday], I feel like he kept his cool and just executed," Kernels pitching coach J.P. Martinez said. "And that was really what we talked about is when things go wrong every once in a while, not letting the game go fast, being able to collect yourself and stop the bleeding and make the pitches you need to."

Del Rosario (3-2) cruised through two innings, then ran into trouble in the third when Sergio Alcantara knocked a leadoff double to left. The 21-year-old right-hander turned things around with two quick punchouts, but walked the next two batters. After a chat with Martinez, Del Rosario retired Stryker Trahan on a comebacker.

"I think the big thing was he just pitched to the situation of the game," the pitching coach said. "Our offense was nice enough to spot us a couple runs early, and so Eddie knew that he could miss with quality pitches outside of the zone to make some guys miss for the strikeouts. And once you get to one or two outs with a guy on second, it's a little less stressful than when you give up that leadoff double. He really just had to get that first out."

A similar trend continued in the fourth when the native of the Dominican Republic issued two-out free passes to Joey Armstrong and Alcantara. But he settled down to fan Fernery Ozuna.

"I think when he got the two outs a couple times, he got a little bit too fine," Martinez said. "The important thing is for him to get strike one all the time, but really important to get strike one with two outs and not take his foot off the accelerator. I think if he did that and if he had avoided those two-out walks, he probably would've pitched in the seventh or eighth inning."

With Trevor Mitsui's double being Del Rosario's only blemish over his final two frames, he tied his longest outing with six strong innings. Del Rosario surpassed his previous high of nine strikeouts, which he reached on July 28, 2015 with the Rookie-level Gulf Coast League.

"I would say this is the best I've seen him. I got to see all of his starts in the Gulf Coast League last year. You could tell that he has a live arm, he has a whip arm and he's got a really good changeup, a really good fastball," Martinez said. "But I think the difference for him is he's worked really hard on his slider and his side work in between starts."

"I think tonight he had all three pitches. With the exception of the two-out walks tonight, I don't think he could've pitched much better."

Williams Ramirez followed Del Rosario and fanned three in two perfect innings.

"They are starting to really trust their stuff. Williams was around the zone with everything [on Friday], he's throwing a little bit harder breaking ball than he had been previously and everything was down," Martinez said. "The only times he threw the ball up was when he meant to. So that seventh, eighth inning is his to lose in my book. Really good job tonight, so that was encouraging."

Tom Hackimer worked around a leadoff single by Mitsui to record the final three outs.

"It wasn't a save situation, it wasn't just to give him work; we wanted to lock the shutout down. He threw a couple nice sliders for strikes; he uses that hard sinker in the bottom half of the zone," Martinez said. "That's why he's there in the ninth inning for us, because he's got that sink and he puts the ball on the ground."

Casey Scoggins, the Twins' 39th-round pick in last month's Draft, knocked in a pair with his first career triple, while Luis Arraez went yard and Sean Miller added an RBI single for Cedar Rapids.

Chargois saves his best for last for Red Wings

To be the closer in baseball, you need a special personality.

You need to be wired just a bit differently to deal with that final-inning, game-on-the-line pressure.

"The closer, he's a different breed," Rochester Red Wings pitching coach Stu Cliburn said. "There's something about that ninth inning that takes a different individual."

Don't tell that to J.T. Chargois, however. Pressure? Nah. It's when he isn't called to the mound that he has a problem.

"I actually get anxiety when I'm not out there," he said. "I feel more pressure having to sit back (in the bullpen) and watch it than actually doing it."

Maybe that's why the 25-year-old right-hander has excelled in the closer's role in the Minnesota Twins organization. For his career, the hard-throwing Chargois is a perfect 35-for-35.

- He's 8-for-8 with the Red Wings since his May 10 promotion from Double-A.
- He was 7-for-7 for the Chattanooga Lookouts to start the season.
- In 2015 he was 4-for-4 with Class-A Fort Myers and 11-for-11 with Chattanooga.
- He was 5-for-5 in rookie ball in Elizabethton in 2012.

You probably noticed the gap in the résumé, with nothing in 2013 or 2014. That's precisely why Chargois made only 48 appearances for a total of 48 innings last season, and why he has pitched a total of 44 2/3 innings in 37 appearances this year.

Tommy John surgery in December of 2013 impeded his development and forced him to spend all of 2014 rehabbing his right elbow.

The Twins have been especially careful bringing him back. Over the past two seasons, he has pitched on back-to-back days just once. That was on May 28 and 29 with the Red Wings, and it was very much a handle-with-care situation. He threw only six pitches in facing two batters on the 28th, then faced four batters the next night.

"The restrictions have been loosened," Cliburn said. "It looks like he's moving along fine with the program we've had for him."

Said Chargois: "They're in my corner. I'm healthy and I'm ready to throw whenever they ask."

Chargois wasn't needed on Saturday night, when Lehigh Valley defeated the Wings 3-0. On Friday he pitched a 1-2-3 ninth inning for the save in Rochester's 4-2 victory at Frontier Field.

In 33 innings for the Wings in 26 games, the Sulphur, Louisiana native, has struck out 40. He has a 1.08 ERA and a 0.94 WHIP (walks plus hits per inning pitched). Opponents are hitting just .198 against him.

His primary pitch is the fastball, which averages around 95-96 mph and has topped out at 98 mph in the International League.

"I just rear back and throw it as hard as I can," he said.

Well, that's not quite true. He effectively mixes in a slider and changeup, "and that's what makes his fastball even better," Cliburn said.

And Chargois feels right at home when he's on the mound in the ninth inning with the game on the line.

"It's what I'm comfortable in," Chargois said. "That's my job, to go out with a little bit of a lead and protect it. That lead's precious to me. Guys worked hard; the position players worked hard for the better part of three hours and it's my job to shut it down."

Lookouts romp past Smokies in series finale, 9-1

Times Free Press – 7/30/16

After splitting games decided in the ninth inning or beyond the previous two nights, the Chattanooga Lookouts made the series finale a runaway win Saturday night against the Tennessee Smokies.

Stuart Turner, Ryan Walker and Zach Granite each batted in two runs and Stephen Gonsalves pitched four-hit ball with eight strikeouts in six innings as the Lookouts won 9-1 at AT&T Field and took the series three games to two. They begin a set at Mobile this evening with a 19-16 record for the Southern League's second half. Tennessee is 14-20.

Bouncing back from a 7-6, 11-inning loss Friday night, Chattanooga took a 1-0 lead Saturday when Leonardo Reginatto and Engelb Vielma singled in the second inning and Reginatto scored on Turner's groundout to the right side.

The Lookouts made it 4-0 with three unearned runs in the fifth and 8-1 with a four-run sixth. The fifth included two stolen bases setting up a two-run single by Walker and an RBI hit by Mitch Garver, and the sixth began with a walk for Reginatto and featured an RBI ground-rule double by Turner in the midst of singles by Edgar Corcino, Vielma and Granite.

Turner doubled to lead off Chattanooga's eighth and scored his third run of the night on another Granite single.

The Smokies scored their run in the sixth on a double by Bijan Rademacher, who had four hits in their win Friday.

Gonsalves lowered his season earned run average to 2.79, and Ryan Eades followed the starter's six innings with two hitless innings of relief for the Lookouts, with three strikeouts. Tyler Jay got the pitchers' 12th punchout in a hitless ninth.
