

More bad luck in Bronx

Twins' big lead erased in the rain

By Patrick Ryan

NEW YORK — Bob Wickman, 36, says he's had the worst luck in his career. He's been hit by a lightning bolt, he's been hit by a falling ball, he's been hit by a falling ball, he's been hit by a falling ball...

Wickman, a right-handed pitcher for the New York Yankees, was hit by a lightning bolt on June 15, 1996, during a game between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox at Yankee Stadium.

There were two other lightning bolts during the game, and the Yankees were leading 1-0 when the game was called. None of the other players were hit by lightning.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Wickman was hit by lightning while he was on the mound. The lightning bolt struck him on the right side of his head.

Rained Out? Really!

Clipped By:
jjswol
Thu, Jan 26, 2023