Nats Laud McClain, Cal Hails Play, But He's Not So Sure. By JIM KLOBUCHAR. Minnesota Tribune Sports Writer. Sluggish Dale Long waved a large arm in the direction of pitcher Joe McClain and said with the grin's serene admiration for another: "Don't let that boyish look fool you. He's absolutely cold out there. Never flusters."

TWINS BOX SCORE. Washington 10, Twins 9. Washington: 10 runs, 10 hits, 3 errors. Twins: 9 runs, 10 hits, 3 errors.

McClain Off Regular Form, Wins Anyway. Baseball men were surprised to see the Minnesota Twins hitting virtually everything up in the air off Joe McClain of Washington. McClain normally is a low ball pitcher, meaning much of his stuff is hit on the ground. But the Twins hit so few ground balls the Senators had only two assists.

We Had Chances, Says Cookie; Twins Praise McClain's Hurling. By DWAYNE NETLAND. Minneapolis Tribune Sports Writer. It would have been an easy way out for the Twins to peg their 3-4 downfall to Washington in Friday's Metropolitan stadium base ball opener strictly on the fine clutch pitching of Joe McClain.

Victorious grin from Senators' Joe McClain. Tasting off falling post-game shower. Vernon Proves' Self as Pilot. Mickey Vernon had a tough time making it into Metropolitan stadium Friday night. He was spool the home opener for the Twins.

Slind Captures Sixth in Classic. Les Lind of Minneapolis routed $78 to take sixth place in the Minneapolis Tribune Classic at Central park.
