

Milton sharp in rainout

*Lefty scheduled to start
Game 4 of playoff series*

By La Velle E. Neal III
Star Tribune Staff Writer

DETROIT — Thursday night's rainout with the Detroit Tigers was not a total wash.

Eric Milton, trying to pitch himself into playoff shape, was impressive in his brief outing, giving up only one hit and showing good velocity before play was halted at the start of the third inning with the Twins leading 9-0.

Up next

- What: Twins vs. Chicago
- When: 7:05 tonight
- Where: Comiskey Park
- TV: FSN
- Radio: WCCO-AM (830)

Milton revealed that he will pitch Game 4 of the best-of-five American League Divisional Series, if it goes that far. Rick Reed will pitch Game 3. Brad Radke and Joe Mays had earlier been announced as the pitchers for the first two games.

TWINS continues on C11
— The game will not be made up.