Twins Drop Opener to Kansas City 4-3

Keough's Hit in 12th Scores Run

By DAVE MONA
Minneapolis Tribune Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The wind carried the ball back over the fence that Joe Torre's head for a Donough's pinch single in the double.
"You don't call someone off a ball," Martin said. "You let it go but he batted you."
But Twins manager Billy Martin said he was not spotted by the expansionist. He said he was not spotted by the expansionist. He said he was not spotted by the expansionist.

Trevino: Hazeltine World's Toughest

By Staff Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga.—Las Trevino, the 1968 National Open champion, had just shot an 81 in a practice round Tuesday for the Masters but he refused to be asked by the Augusta National course.
"There are at least five courses I've played that are much harder than this one," he said.
"The toughest one in the world is Hazeltine, at Minneapolis. Over a 72-hole tournament that has to be at least seven or eight strokes tougher than Augusta."
[The Riviera returns to scene of 1965 disaster . . . Page 24]

"I played Hazeltine in only one tournament (the 1967 Minnesota Classic) but I'll never forget it. The par three all play like they're 60 yards long and they have sand traps hidden on the banks of the creeks that you can't see."
Trevino, talkative as ever, also raved Pebble Beach and Spyglass on California's Monterey Peninsula. Torrey Pines in San Diego and Colonial in Fort Worth Tex. are more formidable than Augusta National.
"The one advantage here is that the ball sits up as well on the fairways," he explained. "Every lie is a good one. When you hit a sand trap you know you aren't going to scrape the club on rock."
Trevino was in contention at the Masters last year when he shot 60 on the final round.
