Frank Malzone, Boston's .256 batsman, continued to stare up the Twins pitching Thursday with two home runs and four runs batted in to help the Red Sox win 9-5 at Metropolitan Stadium.

Malzone, who has seven homers all season, stroked three in the last two games against Minnesota. The right-handed hitting third baseman has four four-batters all told for the Sox.

Bert Curtis, the Twins' young Cuban pitcher, was dispatched because an error by shortstop Zoilo Versalles in the fifth inning cost him six unearned runs. Wallace Bert out his third.

KRALICK TO FACE KANSAS CITY
