

Venturi 'Faces Facts'—Bad Hands and Worse Luck

By DWAYNE NETLAND

KEN VENTURI

Minneapolis Times Staff Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga.—At the Masters tournament he is the man who almost was. And now, at the age of 35, Ken Venturi is also the man who never will be.

DOGGED VETERAN RETURNS TO MASTERS WITH LITTLE HOPE FOR THIRD CHANCE

Leading amateurs in the mid 1950s, later the brightest prospect on the professional tour, then swept into obscurity by a variety of ailments before he returned to the world by winning the National Open in 1964.

Manifature seems to brand men like Venturi. Less than a year ago his 7-year-old son Timmy was riding a bicycle out of his driveway when he collided with a dump truck.

The Minneapolis Tribune

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1968 ... 29

Chance, Twin Power Win Opener 2-0

'Hot Line' Sets Spark for Stars Against Kings

By JOHN GILBERT
Minnesota Tribune Staff Writer
If one player or several players get a little extra fire from their play, it can have great effect on an entire team.

TWIN'S TONY OLIVA (4) STOLE SECOND BASE IN THIRD INNING AGAINST WASHINGTON

Two Homers Top Senators

By DAVE MONA
Minnesota Tribune Staff Writer
The game was played at about 6:30 p.m. and was a pitchers' duel between Dean Chance and Jim Paloucek.

Pittsburgh Trips Muskies, Leads 2-1

By RON ROE
Minnesota Tribune Staff Writer
The main regulars for the Pipers were Connie Hawkins and guards Charley Williams and Chivo Vaughn, Hawkins, the former Mr. Everything, ing in 13 points in the first quarter but Muskies jumped to a 28-22 edge. But the Pipers overtook straight points at the start of the second quarter and led the ball.

Pittsburgh Trips Muskies, Leads 2-1

BASEBALL STANDINGS

Table with columns for American League, National League, and various teams like Twins, Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, etc.

1968 JOHNSON MOTORS advertisement featuring a motorcycle and a car muffler.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE IN CHAIN LINK FENCE WARNERS SELLS ONLY THE BEST!

SICK MUFFLER? advertisement with a cartoon character and product details.