

21,832 Watch Giants Defeat Millers 6-4

Mays Hits Two Homers; Spencer's Blast in Eighth Clinches Victory

OLD FRIENDS GET TOGETHER WHEN GIANTS COME TO TOWN

By TOM BRIERE
Minneapolis Tribune Staff Writer

The "Open New York" Giants and Willie Mays' Giants met in their first game since they parted company in 1954. The Giants, who had won the National League pennant in 1955, defeated the Milwaukee Braves 6-4 in a game that drew a record 21,832 fans to the Polo Grounds.

RAMON MONZANT hit two home runs for the Giants, while Mays hit two for the Braves. Mays' first home run came in the first inning, and he followed it up with another in the eighth. Spencer's blast in the eighth inning clinched the victory for the Giants.

Willie Mays proves he's still idol of youngsters; Millers' Eddie Stanky and Giants' Alvin Dark discuss old times

Novice-Clown Winner in Bid for Title Shot

There is a possibility, let's face it bravely, that the next heavyweight boxing champion of the world may be showing up on television tonight. It is as good as a certainty that tonight's winner will be fighting for the championship the next time he goes to his fight of business.

HE EXPLODES
PATTERSON FIGHTS IN BURST. HE HAS several combats in the first round, but he is not in his best form. He is in a class with Patterson. If it comes to a test of stamina Patterson is not in a class with Jackson, nor is any other heavyweight.

Stadium Praised; Move Speculated

New York writers here for the Miller-Giant exhibition game Thursday said the project of the new Bienville stadium and continued to speculate on the chances of the Giants moving to Minneapolis.

There is what they said: Leonard Koppe, New York Post—There seems little doubt that Minneapolis has a big league potential. The new stadium looks 11,000 seats in three-level grandstand that could quickly and easily be expanded to 45,000 in big league in every respect.

The light system is excellent, better than some in the major. The playing field is good and the outfield fence can be adjusted to any desired size.

Barney Kanowski, New York Journal-American—The Giants put their first look at the new stadium in Minneapolis and they could not help but be impressed. It's a modern, three-tiered stadium with a clear view of the playing field. There are no posts in the mowers, no fast batter than are as good as any in the major.
